In May 1945 heavily bombarded cities such as Le Havre in Northern France, Warsaw, London and Berlin had to reinvent themselves from scratch.

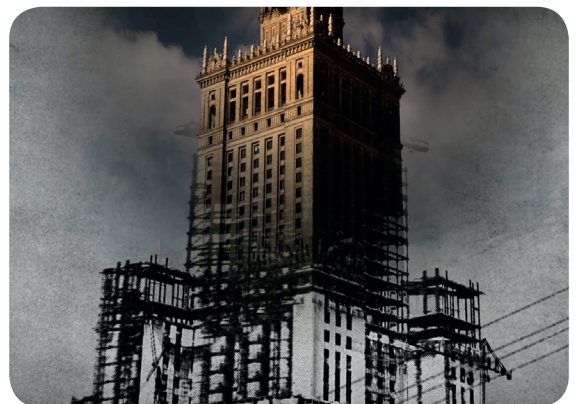

See how in record time with innovative engineering and new urban planning these cities were reconstructed.

Between wartime inflicted scars and immediate post-war reconstruction efforts this series brings back to life the fate of these four cities, mixing Archives, Graphic Composing visual effects and first-hand witnesses who contributed to the cities new identity. Post-War engineering at its best!

Episode: Le Havre, London, Warsaw, Berlin.
