HD

The blazing trajectory of Emmanuel Macron over the last three years has seen the young unknown civil servant become the youngest President of the French Republic at age 39. Yet, despite the daily media coverage during his campaign, and the official storytelling no one really knows him. Beyond his political profile standing for progressive, social and liberal ideas, the man remains an enigma.

This film shot from September 2016 on all the way through his election on May 7th observes and questions the inner motivations, strengths and weaknesses which have structured his personal and political journey. Thanks to exclusive access and rare testimonials, including that of his wife Brigitte, we revisit the decisive moments of the new President's career and decipher the man who will lead the French Presidency over the next five years.
